ALL NEW WEBSITE FOR PAGID!

Pagid is launching a new website that encompasses both our Pagid.com and Pagidprofessional.co.uk sites. This one-stop site for both trade and consumers contains our full range of demonstration and technical videos, as well as product and service information, all logically laid out to assist today's busy workshop technicians. You can also view our full Pagid range; from pads and discs, to lubricants and tools.

With news, articles and a 'Find an Installer' section, all with a new easy-to-use navigation, this new Pagid website will soon be at your fingertips. Rest assured it's mobile friendly too!

Our Pagid range expansion

We have added over 40 new products to our extensive brake part range.

Vehicles such as the current Ford Galaxy and S-Max, Jeep Grand Cherokee, Mazda 2, Fiat Fullback and Mitsubishi L200 have all joined the Pagid OE-quality club. To view the full range, visit the technical section of the Pagid Professional website or use Brakebook.

New speeding fines

New laws now mean that offenders can be charged up to 175 per cent of their weekly income if they are caught speeding.

Fines are divided into three bands – drivers caught at up to 10 mph over the limit (Band A), 11-21 mph over the limit (Band B), and over 21 mph, Band C.

Maximum fines for Band A are 25-75% of the driver's weekly wage, Band B, 75-125% of weekly wage, and Band C, 125-175%.

The minimum fine of £100 and three points will remain the same.

Please stay safe and stick below the limit!

Pagid Racing celebrate 30th anniversary

Did you know that Pagid's Racing division is now 30 years old?

Pagid Racing manufactures race and performance braking parts to cope with the extremes of motorsport. That knowledge and experience then filters down to our everyday brake part range, meaning all Pagid users benefit from championship winning technology.
